

HIGH SCOUTING AWARD IS GIVEN TO OSCAR H. BENSON

Oscar H. Benson of Seven Stars as one of a group of eight men—including a former chief justice of the United States, an aviation aeronaut, an educator, a publisher, a physician and two business executives—who were honored Wednesday afternoon for "distinguished service to boyhood" with the award of the Silver Buffalo by the national council of the Boy Scouts of America at the luncheon session of its one-day annual meeting which opened Wednesday morning at the Waldorf Astoria hotel in New York city.

The other men to receive the honor were Charles Evans Hughes, Washington, D. C.; Edward Verne Rickenbacker, of New York; Lord Somers of London, England; Col. Elbridge W. Palmer of Kingsport, Tenn.; Col. William C. Menger, of Topeka, Kansas, and Washington, D. C.; Thomas J. Watson, of New York, and Philip L. Lee, of Boston, Mass.

The Silver Buffalo Award is made annually on the basis of notoriety, service to boyhood of a national or international character outside the line of regular duty, either directly or independent of the Boy Scouts of America.

Each recipient received a miniature Silver Buffalo worn suspended by a red, white and blue ribbon and an inscribed certificate bearing the citation that accompanied the award. Mr. Benson, accompanied by Mrs. Benson, attended the luncheon and received the award in person.

Service To Youth
Mr. Benson, whose citation recognized his accomplishments as an educator, author, lecturer and social worker, is the originator and for the first 10 years national director of the United States Department of Agriculture 4-H clubs for farm boys and girls. He is the organizer of Junior Chautauqua work and junior Town programs and organizer of Junior Achievement clubs for city boys and girls now active in many cities in this country. He served as a teacher, principal and superintendent of schools for 15 years and has been a scoutmaster, merit badge counselor and member of two local council executive boards of the Boy Scouts.

For 15 years he was national director of Rural Scouting and was creative in his efforts to adapt scouting to the specific needs of boys in rural towns and farm areas. He assisted in the preparation of agricultural merit badge pamphlets in scout work.

"He has devoted his lifetime to enlarging the opportunities of all boys and girls, promoting a better understanding between youth in the city and rural communities," it was stated in an announcement from national scout headquarters telling of the citation and award.

GIVE DETAILS OF NEW RATIONING PLAN FOR SUGAR

More detailed information on the new set-up that has been announced for the rationing of canned sugar in this county was given today by the local War Price and Rationing Board office.

Under the revised plan two periods have been set up under which applications may be presented for sugar for home canning. The first from May 15 to July 15 and the second from July 16 to October 31.

The change limits the amount consumers may obtain in the first period to 10 pounds per person but the maximum amount of home canning for the season remains unchanged at 25 pounds, five pounds of which are available by use of sugar stamp 40 from War Ration Book 4.

May Apply Twice
In the first period which opened Monday of this week, consumers may apply for up to 10 pounds of sugar per person. In the second period, all consumers who need additional rations may obtain an additional amount not to exceed, with the amount granted in the first period, a total of 20 pounds per person. Applications during the second period must show the disposition of the sugar issued during the first period.

Consumers who do not apply in the first period but who need sugar during the second period may obtain up to their full 20-pound-per-person allowance if the applications justify that total.

Use Same Forms
Persons who have already received their full 20-pound allowance for the season before this change are not affected.

Consumers were advised that the

Girl Scouts Will Conduct Poppy Sale

Mrs. Joseph E. Codori, chairman for the annual poppy sale of the American Legion, has announced that members of the Cardinal Girl Scout troop of St. James Lutheran church and the Carolyn Codori troop of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church will conduct the sale.

The sale will open Saturday, May 20, and will continue until Memorial Day.

Mrs. Codori will meet with members of the troops Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at the YWCA building to plan for the campaign.

M'PHERSON IS COMMENDED FOR WAR SERVICES

Donald P. McPherson, Jr., Esq., chairman of the Adams county War Price and Rationing board from its formation late in 1941 until this spring when he resigned because of his approaching induction into the armed forces, was the guest of honor Wednesday evening at a testimonial dinner given by members of the two war price and rationing boards, panel members and the office staffs.

Forty-two persons attended the affair which was held at Mrs. Smith's restaurant. Acting Director Walter Young of the Harrisburg District OPA office, Mrs. McPherson and Mrs. Donald P. McPherson, Sr., were special guests.

Judge W. C. Sheely presided during the evening. There were no formal speeches but Judge Sheely and state and local rationing officials rose to praise the services rendered by Mr. McPherson, who recently was commissioned as a lieutenant (j.g.) in the Navy and expects an early call to duty.

Reviews Setup
Judge Sheely reviewed the original setup of the rationing organization here in 1941 when tires and tubes were the only rationed goods and then referred to the rapid expansion of the program as more and more commodities were added to the ration list.

"In selecting the members of that first county board, we selected men who had no interest in the commodity to be rationed, who were entirely honest and were publicly recognized as such and who were prepared to do an efficient job," Judge Sheely said. "Any program that limits American citizens in what they may do cannot be popular but the people of this county have demonstrated their confidence in the manner in which the local ration boards have operated."

The original board included Mr. McPherson, H. B. Pearson of York Springs, who also was present for the dinner, and Henry S. Stover of Littlestown.

"Model" Board
"The going was pretty tough for long periods at a time," Judge Sheely reminded the group, "but at times when many persons might have wished to throw up the job, Don McPherson stuck to his post and built up one of the most efficient rationing setups in the state with the help of the other members of the county board, the local boards and their employees and volunteer assistants."

Mr. Young declared Adams county has one of the best local rationing organizations in the state and "may well serve as a model." He specially complimented Mr. McPherson for his services.

Peter F. Smith, McSherrystown, until recently chairman of the New Oxford ration board, expressed his thanks for the assistance given by the county chairman "who always had the OPA regulations at his fingertips."

Ray M. Hoffman, new chairman for the Gettysburg board, described the "efficient organization" he found in operation when he took over about May 1 and said he hopes to be able to "follow the policies and procedure set up by Mr. McPherson."

Mrs. Helen Corbett spoke as the representative of the office force and presented Mr. McPherson with a

Commissioners Turn Down Courthouse Bid

The Adams county commissioners received only one bid Wednesday for the proposed remodeling of the commissioners' and treasurer's offices at the court house, it was announced today.

Because they felt "it would be unfair at this time" to let the contract with only one bidder represented, the commissioners rejected the bid. A number of other contractors would have handed in bids if they had been sure of obtaining plumbers, electricians, carpenters and other help, the commissioners said, and as a result the board will ask separate bids for the various types of work to be done.

Annual reports will be presented and the annual election of directors will be held. All Adams county organizations are invited to send representatives to the meeting which is open to the public.

The new bids will be opened June 7, it was announced, and advertisements for the various bids are being prepared by the architect for the work, G. Frank Witman, of York.

Littlestown Men Asking For Paroles

Two Adams county brothers, Robert and Gilbert Gracey, both of Littlestown, entered a plea before the State Board of Pardons in Harrisburg Tuesday, says a news dispatch from the capital. The men told the board through their attorney that they had served sufficient time for burglary and larceny of chickens in Littlestown in 1940.

Gilbert, sentenced to 6 to 12 years in the Eastern Penitentiary, asked for release on the grounds that he has mechanical ability and would like to rehabilitate himself. Robert's sentence is 4½ to 9 years. Both men promised not to return to Adams county.

HIGH SCOUTING AWARD IS GIVEN OSCAR H. BENSON

Oscar H. Benson of Seven Stars was one of a group of eight men—including a former chief justice of the United States, an aviation leader, an educator, a publisher, a physician and two business executives—who were honored Wednesday afternoon for "distinguished service to boyhood" with the award of the Silver Buffalo by the national council of the Boy Scouts of America at the luncheon session of its one-day 34th annual meeting which opened Wednesday morning at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York city.

The other men to receive the honor were Charles Evans Hughes, of Washington, D. C.; Edward Vernon Rickenbacker, of New York; Lord Somers of London, England; Col. Elbridge W. Palmer of Kingsport, Tenn.; Col. William C. Menninger, of Topeka, Kansas, and Washington, D. C.; Thomas J. Watson, of New York, and Philip L. Reed, of Boston, Mass.

The Silver Buffalo Award is made annually on the basis of noteworthy service to boyhood of a national or international character outside the line of regular duty, either directly to or independent of the Boy Scouts of America.

Each recipient received a miniature Silver Buffalo worn suspended by a red, white and blue ribbon and also an inscribed certificate bearing the citation that accompanied the award. Mr. Benson, accompanied by Mrs. Benson, attended the luncheon and received the award in person.

Service To Youth

Mr. Benson, whose citation recognized his accomplishments as an educator, author, lecturer and social worker, is the originator and for the first 10 years national director of the United States Department of Agriculture 4-H clubs for farm boys and girls. He is the organizer of Junior Chautauqua work and Junior Town programs and originator of Junior Achievement clubs for city boys and girls now active in many cities in this country. ## GIVE DETAILS OF NEW RATIONING PLAN FOR SUGAR

More detailed information on the new set-up that has been announced for the rationing of canned sugar in this county was given today by the local War Price and Rationing Board office.

Under the revised plan two periods have been set up under which applications may be presented for sugar for home canning. The first is from May 15 to July 15 and the second from July 16 to October 31.

The change limits the amount consumers may obtain in the first period to 10 pounds per person but the maximum amount of home canning ration for the season remains unchanged at 25 pounds, five pounds of which are available by use of sugar stamp 40 from War Ration Book 4.

May Apply Twice

In the first period which opened Monday of this week, consumers may apply for up to 10 pounds of sugar per person. In the second period, all consumers who need additional rations may obtain an additional amount not to exceed, with the amount granted in the first period, a total of 20 pounds per person. Applications during the second period must show the disposition of the sugar issued during the first period.

Consumers who do not apply in the first period but who need sugar during the second period may obtain up to their full 20-pound-per-person allowance if the applications justify that total.

COLLEGE WILL GIVE DIPLOMAS TO 51, MAY 29

Fifty-one seniors will graduate Monday, May 29, at the 112th annual commencement of Gettysburg college, it was announced today by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of the college.

Governor Colgate W. Darden of Virginia will be the speaker and will be introduced by Governor Edward Martin of Pennsylvania.

Before assuming the governorship of Virginia, Governor Darden had held positions in the American Field Service in 1916 and with the United States Marine Corps in 1917. He was an attorney before becoming governor.

The commencement exercises will follow by one day the annual baccalaureate service to be held Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock in the Majestic theatre. Dr. J. Gould Wickey, executive secretary of the Board of Education of the United Lutheran Church will deliver the annual address.

Daughter In Class

Doctor Wickey, a graduate of Gettysburg college in 1912, and the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological seminary in 1915, has been director of the Northwestern Lutheran seminary, president of the Council of Church Boards of Education in America and secretary of the National Lutheran conference. At present Doctor Wickey is general secretary of the Council of Church-Related colleges. He received his M.A. degree at Harvard university in 1916, studied at Oxford university and returned to Harvard to receive his doctor of philosophy degree in 1922. A daughter, Phyllis Wickey, is a member of the graduating class while another daughter, Vivian Wickey, is a sophomore at the county association, president of the county War Finance Committee.

Introduced Mr. Dunkerley and urged the bankers to ask their depositors to turn their accounts into war bonds during the forthcoming Fifth War Loan drive. "If the nation is to go over the top about 14 per cent of the present deposits must be converted into bonds," he said.

83 Present

Eighty-three bankers, their ladies and guests, attended the session. Banks in Gettysburg, Abbottstown, Arentdsville, Bendersville, East Berlin, Littlestown, New Oxford, McSherrystown and York Springs were represented. The next meeting will be held August 16.

Mr. Thomas was awarded a certificate.

SAYS BANKERS' FUTURE RESTS IN THEIR HANDS

"We are going through a period when we don't know what will happen to us—we don't know if we are to continue as bankers, or if the government will take over. The decision lies in our hands, because what the people on the street want will determine what kind of banks there are in the post-war world and whether the government will take over the banking industry."

That statement by J. R. Dunkerley, secretary of the savings division of the American Bankers Association, highlighted his talk on "Safe Service Charges and Methods of Computing Interest," given Wednesday evening before the Adams County Bankers Association dinner meeting at the Hotel Gettysburg.

"Surveys made several years ago disclosed that before the war 40 per cent of the people thought that the government could handle the banking of the country better than the private bankers, while 45 per cent thought the present bankers were doing a good job.

Public Relations Improve

"Since the war has begun our activities in handling rationing stamps and the sale of bonds and the like have bettered our public relations. However, the manner in which we meet the customers after the war will determine what finally happens to private banking," he added.

Pointing out that banks in Pennsylvania have "not been as guilty of this as others," he asserted that "many banks have not been too courteous in their treatment of savings depositors, yet three-fourths of all our contacts with the public are through the savings department."

The trend in banking during the last ten years has "not been very wholesome," he asserted. "In 1941, according to surveys, 83 per cent of the savings in the country were in the banks, but the banks were steadily losing depositors. From 1935 to 1940 only 33 per cent of new savings were coming to the banks, the remainder were going into savings and loans and government agencies. From 1939 to 1941 only one new account in every six was going into the banks," he said.

Suggests Bonus Plan

To combat the situation he urged higher rates of interest on savings deposits when increased income to banks warrants them. He urged study of "bonus" rates for accounts which are "truly savings accounts" in order to give as high a rate of interest as possible. "Everyone knows that some accounts are constant and actually earn a high rate of interest, while others are small and constantly fluctuating, and actually lose money for the bank."

J. D. Miller, cashier of the Biglerville National bank and president of the county association, president Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the county War Finance Committee, introduced Mr. Dunkerley and urged the bankers to ask their depositors to turn their accounts into war bonds during the forthcoming Fifth War Loan drive. "If the nation is to go over the top about 14 per cent of the present deposits must be converted into bonds," he said.

83 Present

Eighty-three bankers, their ladies and guests, attended the session. Banks in Gettysburg, Abbottstown, Arentdsville, Bendersville, East Berlin, Littlestown, New Oxford, McSherrystown and York Springs were represented. The next meeting will be held August 16.

Mr. Thomas was awarded a certificate.

Yesterday was kindly to the Allied cause in widely separated theatres: The German evacuation of the powerful mountain stronghold of Cassano in Italy, the spectacular capture of strategic Myitkyina air-drome from the Japanese in northern Burma and, last but perhaps most important, the cessation of the Detroit foreman's strike on our home-front.

The forced withdrawal of the Hitlerites from Cassano—which is part of a general retreat from the Gustav line—represents a solid victory for Allied arms in one of the war's toughest spots. Cassano, strongest defense in the Gustav line, had stood us off since January amidst bloody fighting.

Retreat In Italy

The Nazis are falling back on the Adolf Hitler line, which is the next and most formidable obstacle between the Allies and Rome. There the enemy will try to make a stand and a great battle may be expected. The Allies already have surged through the Gustav line and are in contact at many points with the elaborate defenses which have been named after Hitler because of their strength.

The Germans are expecting the Allies to launch a fresh offensive from the Anzio beachhead in conjunction with the drive on the Adolf Hitler defenses. It wouldn't be surprising if this developed, thus placing the main German battle line in a nasty position between two drives.

The capture of Myitkyina air-drome is a great stroke. It was achieved by American and Chinese forces which now are besieging the city itself.

Main Jap Base

This column yesterday explained the importance of Myitkyina. It's the main Japanese base in northern Burma, and its fall would be calculated to compel enemy evacuation of that whole area, thus permitting the Allies to join up the Burma and Ledo roads and so reestablish China's land life-line to India.

Our colorful Brigadier General Frank Merrill and his Yankee jungle marauders played a great part in capture of the airdrome. Meanwhile our general (Uncle Joe) Stillwell is driving down from the northwest on Myitkyina with his American and Chinese troops. We are racing against time to evict the Japanese from northern Burma before the monsoon rains descend shortly.

One is almost glad that we had the Detroit foreman strike, because it has given us a splendid example of how quickly the sturdy American workman can subordinate what he regards as his own best interests when he learns that his cessation of labor is jeopardizing the war effort.

Scored By Arnold

The strike was called off almost immediately after General H. H. Arnold had made it known that it represented "one of the most serious setbacks the air force has had since its inception"—a setback so grave that it might even affect invasion operations. His statement was independent of the merits of the case—just a great soldier's expert assay of effects. The cancellation of the strike was made without regard to the workers' claims. Only the interests of the country and the Allied cause were considered on either hand.

General Arnold's blunt frankness, and the foremen's quick and loyal response, constitute a grand day's work for the war effort! There's no manner of doubt that had the strike continued after the air chief's disclosure of the danger, it would have given great aid and comfort to the enemy.

Nazis Worried

As it is we leave the Germans in the same condition of apprehension that existed yesterday. Then Lt General Kurt Dittmar, Nazi radio commentator, admitted that the Hitlerites forces must be flung back both in Russia and western Europe. Other commentators showed wear and tear of nerves.

As a matter of fact it's an understatement to say we leave the Hitlerites in the same state of anxiety. We leave them in far greater fear, for they've had an exhibition of solidarity which will further weaken their hope that dissension among us may bring them relief.

STIMSON WARNS PEOPLE AGAINST ENEMY STORIES

Washington, May 18 (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson, warned the public today that current Nazi propaganda on the forthcoming invasion of Europe is designed only to confuse the Allied peoples in the hope of impeding military operations.

In a statement read at his press conference, the secretary called attention particularly to the setting of invasion dates by the enemy, so that when the dates passed without action the enemy could claim the Allies did not dare attempt the invasion.

"The day will come, but it will not be the one which the Nazis have selected," he added, asking that the public "remain cool and patient during this trying period of waiting for D-Day."

Stimson's Statement
"The primary concern of the American people at present is the success of our forthcoming military operations, and especially of the great operation in Europe which is now being organized. During this period of preparation we cannot risk the disclosure of our plans or actions to the enemy, and accordingly must observe secrecy as to what we are doing at a time when public interest is intense."

Recently the colonel appealed to the International Red Cross agent in Berlin over the scanty food provided by the Germans, and Dr. Roland Marti, a representative of the organization, visited the camp to report on the Americans' complaint.

Allen's Statement
"The day will come, but it will not be the one which the Nazis have selected," he added, asking that the public "remain cool and patient during this trying period of waiting for D-Day."

Lunch—Water and soup made of dehydrated vegetables and raw turnips.

Dinner—Two boiled potatoes.

Once each week, he said each prisoner was issued some margarine so rancid that the American officers use it to shine shoes. One ounce of beet sugar and two ounces of an unidentified kind of bully.

He emphasized that without the Red Cross parcels the prisoners would starve. He declared that many Americans were not issued clothes sent them by the Red Cross until after they had been in camp seven months.

R.C. FOOD KEEPS WAR PRISONERS FROM STARVING

Barcelona, Spain, May 18 (AP)—Nine hundred Americans and Britons exchanged for a similar number of Germans, waited today for the Gripsholm to unload about 1,600 Red Cross mail parcels for American prisoners of war in the Reich before beginning their home.

The exchange of the Americans and Britons, who had been held in prisoner-of-war camps and brought here aboard the Gadisca for the German prisoners and civilians, was completed yesterday evening except for 23 German civilians who were interned in Barcelona until an agreement was reached about them.

In Washington the State Department said the Gripsholm, on her return journey, would stop at a port in North Africa and port in the United Kingdom and was expected to arrive in New York about June 10.

Although only 18 American soldiers were expected on the Gadisca, 60 arrived. STIMSON WARNS
PEOPLE AGAINST ENEMY STORIES

Washington, May 18 (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson warned the public today that current Nazi propaganda on the forthcoming invasion of Europe is designed only to confuse the Allied peoples in the hope of impeding military operations.

In a statement read at his press conference, the secretary called attention particularly to the setting of invasion dates by the enemy, so that when the dates passed without action the enemy could claim the Allies did not dare attempt the invasion.

"The day will come, but it will not be the one which the Nazis have selected," he added, asking that the public "remain cool and patient during this trying period of waiting for D-Day."

Stimson's Statement

"The primary concern of the American people at present is the success of our forthcoming military operations, and especially of the great operation in Europe which is now being organized. During this period of preparation we cannot risk the disclosure of our plans or actions to the enemy, and accordingly must observe secrecy as to what we are doing at a time when public interest is intense. The enemy may be expected to take advantage of this situation, and to endeavor by his propaganda to confuse the people of the United States and of the Allied nations. He is likely to distort or exaggerate events that have taken place, and even invent incidents that never happened at all."

"When the moment for telling of the news arrives, we shall try to tell it speedily and adequately. In the meantime, the American press, radio and public may well be wary of spurious stories told by the enemy to try to create confusion in the minds of our people. For instance, during the past few weeks the Nazis and their satellites have been busy setting dates for the invasion—setting one date one week and another one the next, so that when the dates came and went they could claim that the Allies did not dare the attempt. The day will come, but it will not be the one which the Nazis have selected."

Calls For Coolness, Patience

"It is well to bear in mind that enemy propagandists distribute their materials to different targets and for different purposes. Through wireless transmissions, short wave broadcasts, and stories planted in neutral countries, they seek to make an impression on the people of the United States. Through their news services they tell a different story to the people of the occupied countries, and they may tell still a different story to their people at home. What they tell us, though it may be disguised to look like news, has a single purpose—to endeavor to confuse the public mind in the hope of thus impeding the success of military operations."

"It is to be hoped that the public will be alert to these enemy tricks, and will remain cool and patient during this trying period of waiting for D-Day. When there is news to be told, we shall tell it."

WITHHOLD TWO DECISIONS IN MASS TRIALS

Washington, May 18 (AP)—In an atmosphere of dead calm that contrasted sharply with yesterday's tumultuous session, presiding Justice Edward C. Elcher injected an element of suspense into the mass sedition conspiracy trial today by reserving decision on two motions for a mistrial after promptly denying numerous others.

One after another defense attorneys had put motions to the court, criticizing the opening statement of Chief Prosecutor O. John Rogge as highly inflammatory and designed to "poison the minds of the jurors."

As rapidly as they were voiced, however, Elcher ruled them down until P. Bateman Ennis, court-appointed counsel for Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, moved for a mistrial in behalf of his client. Kunze, National leader of the German-American bund after 1939, is under prison sentences of 15 and five years respectively, for violation of the espionage act and for counseling evasion of the Selective Service act.

Barroom Brawl

A short time later, Justice Elcher also reserved decision on a similar motion by William A. Gallagher, attorney for Herman M. Schwinn and Hans Diebel, both of Los Angeles.

Ennis, emphasizing that he had no part in yesterday's tumultuous session, offered a general apology for what he said resembled a "bowery barroom brawl."

He said the "chaotic condition" in the court room prevented Kunze from receiving a fair and impartial trial

Associated Press Sports Writer
It took 'Oryal Grove a year to get even but the Chicago Sox right-hander today has squared his debt with the New York Yankees, who broke his nine-game win streak and ruined his no-hit bid in 1943.

Grove became the first pitcher to shut out the New Yorkers when he blanketed them 4-0 with five hits yesterday.

Last July, Grove had a no-hitter with two out in the ninth when Joe Gordon's double spoiled it, and a few weeks later the world champs ruined his attempt for a tenth straight victory.

Washington muffed a chance to go into a virtual tie or the American lead by bowing before Cleveland Vern Kennedy's four-hit effort, 4-2. Jeff Heath with a double and two singles, and Oris Hockett with a triple and a pair of singles, sent Roger Wolff off for his first loss.

Boot Loses Game

Buddy Hall's boot with the bases loaded cost Philadelphia's Athletics a 2-1 decision to Detroit much to the dismay of 23,535 Quaker city fans who were trying to root the A's home for their seventh straight.

Boston split two with the St. Louis Browns, winning 5-1, behind Tex Hughson's four-hit hurling but losing after a wild scramble in the finale, 12-8. Joe Cronin of the Red Sox became a bench manager again, yielding first base to George Metkovich and appearing only as a pinchhitter. By the split and Detroit's night win, the Sox plunged into the cellar.

Brooklyn might be last in the National if the Chicago-Cubs weren't putting up such a strong defense, for the Dodgers tumbled into seventh position after bowing to Pittsburgh, 8-5. The Brooks, having a poor road trip, came up with four runs in the sixth to grab the lead but the 'Pirates' rallied with four in their half for an 8-5 margin before rain forced them to call it a night. Tommy O'Brien's triple with the bases loaded was the game-winning stroke.

Cubs Lose Again

The Braves continued to get top flight pitching as Red Barrett rocked the St. Louis Cardinals back on their heels with five blows for a 5-1 edge.

Bucky Walters turned from pitching to hitting and as a pinch batsman cracked a double that gave Cincinnati a 6-5 triumph over the Reds in a see-saw game called a moment after the hit in the eighth inning because of rain.

Joe Medwick and Danny Gardella paced the New York Giants attack on five Chicago tossers for a 10-6 margin in a free-hitting game.

LAURELS LEAP TO SECOND IN EASTERN LOOP

(By The Associated Press)

The persistent Hartford Laurels had reached second place in the Eastern league standings today and found themselves only a half-game out of the lead position, held by the Wilkes-Barre Barons.

Having pulled themselves out of the second division, the Laurels hung in third place for several days before defeating Elmira last night, 8-6, to displace the Pioneers in the runner-up spot.

The Laurels went scoreless until the sixth when they bunched four runs to take a 4-3 lead. Warren Mueller gave the Pioneers 13 hits, but kept them well-scattered.

Catcher Al Todd of Elmira pulled a tendon in his leg rounding third base and is expected to be out of the lineup for several days.

16-4 Shellacking

The Barons suffered a 16-4 shelling at the hands of the Utica Braves, who failed to score until the fifth when they finally got to Bob Madsen. Ed Chitwood relieved Madsen, but had rocky going. Chitwood hit seven batters in addition to giving up seven hits.

Albany's Senators came from behind in the last two innings to eke out a 4-3 win over Williamsport. Dan Parra, new addition to the Grays' mound staff, shackled the Senators until the eighth when an error accounted for two of Albany's three runs in that frame. Dick Jackson's double in the ninth scored Tony Rensel with the winning run.

Scoring all their runs in the first three innings, the Scranton Red Sox defeated Binghamton, 8-2. Bailey held the Triplits to six hits.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

New York, May 18 (AP)—Overseas sports roundup:

Persian Gulf command

Sgt. Allen Lacombe, the No. 1 boxing promoted from Cairo to Teheran, types this report: "Boxing in the P. G. C. has been pretty good in the last month or so. I took 22 boys on tour of the command. The camps we appeared in did not have boxing teams before we went there, but as soon as we left all of the camps started to organize teams . . . There is only one place that we can fight during the summer and that is Teheran. It is nice and cool up in the mountains where the camps are, so once a month I have to put on 12 fights up there, matching boys from all over the command. The only rough part about it is that we fellows stationed down in the southern part of Iran have to travel almost 850 miles to fight. The change of climate is murder; you can hardly breathe when you get up in them mountains. And you have to travel fourth class or ride in box cars all the way, eating C rations, but the boys do not seem to mind it very much. In fact they raise hell if you cannot get them a match every time you go up there. When this war is over and the boys turn pro and we have to ride the rods from town to town, up and down the kerosene circuit, we will be used to it."

NEW GUINEA

Recently received copies of the "Cockatoo," which describes itself as "the leading and most widely read morning newspaper in New Guinea," include complete resumes of major league baseball performances as well as racing results at "Fresh Meadows," a track where toy horses are raced with the aid of dice . . . and an accompanying letter from Editor T. S. Clifford Garding says: "In our particular, but not peculiar, situation, we are unable to participate in athletics because the jungle is hardly the place for diamonds, courts, courses and athletic fields. The sea is our playground and water sports are the main division."

ENGLAND

From a Canadian newspaper comes information that a Canadian Army cricket team will play an American team on the famed cricket grounds at Lords, July 20 . . . The match already has led to speculation in London papers as to whether the game will help Canadians and Americans forget the more raucous game of baseball when they return home . . . From this distance, it seems more likely that staid Londoners never will forget the Canadian-American game.

NORTH AFRICA

Chief Warrant Officer Frank Hartley reports as follows to his old paper, The Louisville Times, on racing in North Africa: "It's confusing enough to buy a ticket which reads 20 francs, but which sells for 60 francs, or $1.20. It's even worse inside . . . If you're lucky, you can find through the use of sign language and GI French that favorites aren't posted and there aren't, as a result, any opening odds . . . So long as the race is going on, you can imagine that you're back in the States, because usually the races are good and it's just as difficult to see the backstretch as it is 'at home'."

MACK'S RELIEF HURLER KEEPS TEAM IN RACE

By BOB HOFFMAN

Philadelphia, May 18 (AP)—Jonas Arthur "Jittery Joe" Berry walked into the Philadelphia Athletics' training camp—a complete stranger—one day this spring when the temperature was in the 30's. He threw a couple of pitches and then cut loose with a curve ball. "There's my relief pitcher," said Connie Mack.

"A good one might mean the difference between the cellar and first division," one of the coaches remarked.

Today, the Athletics are up in the first division, and the league pitching averages show—"Berry, won 4, lost 1."

But the records don't tell the whole story. In his four victories Berry has pitched hitless ball—eight innings of it. In a game he saved for Don Black he gave the Yanks one hit in two innings. He looked bad just once, in his only loss, when he gave the Senators six in two.

Says He's 38

"Jittery Joe," a resident of Huntsville, Ark., who confesses to be 38, has been knocking around the minors for 17 years. He had a trial with the Chicago Cubs after the 1942 season, when he won 18 games for Tulsa and had an earned run average of 1.88. But he was sent to Milwaukee, where he won 18 last year. The A's bought him during the winter.

Berry throws a little of everything and not much of anything, with an inbetween speed that apparently baffles big league batters because they haven't seen anything like it. His herky-jerky motions, whence the nickname, may have something to do with it, too.

Standing 5' 5", 11 inches tall and weighing only 145, he looks like a somewhat younger edition of Mr. Mack himself. Maybe that's why the old gentleman took an immediate shine to him.

(By The Associated Press)

The Hagerstown Owls tightened their hold on the Interstate league lead last night when they downed the Wilmington Rocks, 5 to 2, at Hagerstown, making it seven straight wins. It was the fourth straight pitching victory for Julian Morgan. Charley Ripple was the losing pitcher.

At York the White Roses built up their batting averages in a 15 to 4 victory over the tail-end Lancaster Red Roses. The winners collected 21 hits off Lancaster hurlers Kardon and Schobel. Winning pitcher was Patton.

The Allentown Redbirds, playing on their home grounds, won over Trenton 14 to 5 before 1,292 paying customers. Froggy Brunswick struck out 12 batters and did his bit at the plate by knocking out a triple with the bases loaded. Belting and Hart pitched for Trenton.

HORSE LOVERS TALK PENSIVE, TWILIGHT TEAR

By ORLO ROBERTSON

New York, May 18 (AP)—There's an argument going the rounds of racing circles over the relative merits of Pensive, the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, and Twilight Tear, a filly with a record of six straight victories, but Ben Jones will have no part of it.

Missouri Ben is the one man who could settle the argument since he's the trainer of the two ace three-year-olds from Warren Wright's Calumet farm, but if he knows which is the better he's not saying. His answer to the questions after Twilight Tear cakewalked home in the Acorn stakes at Belmont park was:

"If somebody wants to arrange a match race between the pair, winner take all, I'll gladly see that both of them get to the post."

The debate started after Pensive's surprise victory in the Derby. The report got around, although all official members of the stable refuse to be quoted, that Jones left his best Derby candidate in the east when he decided to withhold Twilight Tear for filly stakes.

Beat Nine Others

Backers of Twilight Tear added fuel to the discussion when she easily won the Pimlico Oaks, but supporters of Pensive answered that after their horse came from behind to take the Preakness, New Yorkers got their first glimpse of the filly yesterday as a three-year-old and they left Belmont wondering if Twilight is not the better of the two since she traveled the mile in 1:37 and easily hung it on nine others of her sex and age.

Because of his victories in the Derby and Preakness, Pensive has the better money record. He has picked up $139,475 of the $261,740 earned this year by the bearers of the red deviled silks. Twilight, beaten only in her first start of 1944 and then by older horses, has won $34,780. As a two-year-old filly she won $34,610 and Pensive $5,490.

What is true, simple and sincere is most congenial to man's nature—
Cicero

SOLDIER THOUGHTS

It seems so simple to us here!
We fight a very cruel foe.
To keep the skies of freedom clear
For everyone we love and know.
We dare beyond our own content
To cut a path through power and greed.That life shall never more be spent
In serving such a fearful need.We do not talk in lofty phrase
On beaches and in foxholes tight.
Merely the joys of happier days
To one another we recite.The school, the church, the games we played.The streams and pools we fished for trout;

'Tis these, when once the battle's stayed.

All homesick soldiers talk about.

Ask soldiers what is their desire
And this they'll say: "Back home to be!"

Back to the mother's food and fire.

Back to the ones we long to see!

Back to the life that once we knew

Of toil from dawn to dusk, and then

Back to the things we liked to do,

Back to the hometown girls again!

"So keep the home place safe and clean:

Be brave, as we believe you are.

Filthy the places where we've been.

Our souls have suffered many a scar.

But you are the ones we want to see.

Yours is the life we want once

It's home again that we long to be.

It's home, and you, we are fighting for!"

TO TURN THE EARTH

I envy the tiller of the soil, who plow, and can watch the rich earth turn over. It is the process of preparation — and the beginning of business of plowing, planting and reaping as one of man's great joys.

And then there is the wonder and the miracle of growth — each seed

And then there is the wonder and the miracle of growth — each seed or growing stalk with a serman wrapped about it.

Had not the poet Burns loved this enterprise, there would never have been his immortal notations about the field mouse. There is poetry to every turnover of the soil, and there is about every blade of green grass and in every field of daisies a message of life and of beauty.

I like to dig in the ground. I like its responsiveness, its cooperation, and the smiles so colorful that the earth helps to form from seed planted within its elements. The mystery of the tulips, from bulbs planted last Autumn, now singing their songs of color under the warm sun of Springtime, and the tiny violets and crocuses, the midgets of wildland, how they rebuild our faith in the immortality of things — even those that are so commonly inanimate!

To see a man in the field turning the earth, getting ready for later planting, is to be reminded of youth, the beginnings of things, and to speculate upon all the processes of life that give to human beings their hope, their joys, and their courage.

It makes one think of the times that he has turned over ideas in his mind, and planted dreams, some of them being withered by the lack of sunshine, while others grew fruitful through the kindness of application and contributed love.

To turn the earth, to do the things that enter into preparation for one's life work, to even enter into the menial tasks without complaint, but with zest, that is the business of us all.

YANKEES SEIZE JAP AIRDROME; BLOW TO ENEMY

By RICHARD C. BERGHOLZ
Associated Press War Editor

A spectacular jungle maneuver by Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's American and Chinese soldiers has toppled an important airdrome from Japanese control, placed the main enemy base in North Burma under siege and narrowed the gap between converging Allied armies in Burma and China to less than 80 airline miles.

Southeast Asia Allied headquarters announced today Stilwell's forces captured Myitkyina airdrome after a 20-day forced march and now are besieging Myitkyina City, terminus of the important Mandalay railroad.

Immediately after the airdrome was secured, gliders and transport planes landed American engineers and Chinese troops. Brig. Gen. Frank Merrill's marauders participated in the surprise stroke which apparently caught the Japanese completely by surprise and only slight resistance was offered, the Allied communiqué said.

Face Collapse

Fall of Myitkyina would threaten to collapse the entire Japanese position in northern Burma and remove an important obstacle in the campaign to link the new Ledo road with the old Burma road to China.

Eighty airline miles east, Chinese troops streaming west of the Salween river swept through several new positions in an apparent pincer movement on a Japanese-held segment of the Burma road. Chinese guerrillas captured Sipin now pass.

The picture was still grim for Chinese defenders of Loyang, former Chinese capital in northern Honan province. Furious infantry attacks both inside and outside the city are being met but Japanese forces are spinning a gigantic trap around Loyang southeast of the city. Chinese troops reportedly recaptured a 50-mile stretch of the Peiping-Hankow railroad.

Denies He Knew Of False Steel Reports

Pittsburgh, May 18 (AP)—Lawrence S. Dahl, superintendent of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation's Irvin works, denied in federal court that he knew his subordinates, as charged by the government, had falsified reports on steel tests or destroyed any records until after the Senate Truman Committee began its investigation.

As a defense witness, he said yesterday that he had never seen the book in which the government charged chemical analyses were "faked" by supplying a "representative" in the specifications.

He said he was vacationing in Florida when Truman committee investigators visited the Irvin works in March, 1943.

Stott was re-indicted for the kidnapping April 14 after a Steuben county court jury had failed to reach an agreement at the conclusion of a similar trial March 7 in Corning. The new indictment, in addition to the kidnapping count, includes charges of first and second degree assault and grand larceny.

The defendant was arrested last October in Kansas City, Kan., and was quoted at that time by State Police Inspector Eugene F. Hoyt as saying he shot and killed both Murphy and his wife, Estta Stott, following a quarrel April 6, 1925, buried their bodies in roadside graves, and drove to Kansas in Murphy's car.

This Old Treatment Often Brings Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking care of the body. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it causes backaches, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or crampy urination, with burning and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Zobec Pills and success is yours in 40 days. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Zobec Pills.

URGES AIRPORTS AS
"WAR MEMORIALS"

Harrisburg, May 18 (AP)—Building of "community" airports as war memorials was urged today by William L. Anderson, executive director of the Pennsylvania Aeronautics Commission, which has proposed establishment of enough airfields so that every town of 100 or more population will be within five miles of a landing field.

"I can think of no better way," Anderson said, "for a community to honor its war heroes than by building such a living and lasting memorial as an airport."

Anderson, who said a commission survey showed the state's 139 existing public airports must be increased by the establishment of 130 more to meet its goal, asserted communities should act now, during the war, so that emergency landing fields will be available for distressed military craft.

PILOT CATCHES UP WITH NURSE-WIFE

Allied Headquarters, Naples, May 18 (AP)—Second Lieut. Walter E. Zurney, of Kittanning, Pa., finally has caught up with his wife, Second Lieut. Mary L. Zurney, in a rest camp in Italy.

An Army Nurse, Mrs. Zurney had completed 10 weeks service in an Anzio beachhead hospital.

Nurse Zurney, whose home is in Muskogee, Okla., came overseas in April, 1943, but her husband, still in training in the United States, was pretty sure where she was. He saw her in an Anzio newsreel while he was training in Casper, Wyo., last February. When he became a full-fledged Liberator pilot, he followed her.

ASK RETENTION OF ROTC TRAINING

Harrisburg, May 18 (AP)—A plea for retention of Reserve Officers Training Corps in American colleges after the war even though universal military training of youth is required came before the 55th Congress of the Sons of the American Revolution today in a committee report.

The committee, headed by Allen L. Oliver, president of the Missouri Bar Association, also disclosed in the present war "throughout the nation, members of our society have actively functioned as volunteer assistants to the FBI. Not only men of integrity but men of prominence have done this work."

Congress sessions ended today with action on resolutions, election of officers and selection of city for the 1945 meeting.

THREE HOLDUP MEN
ESCAPE WITH $472

Norristown, Pa., May 18 (AP)—Three holdup men entered the general store of Alfred Reed, 54, at Center Square, five miles north of here, shortly before midnight, forced two customers to sit on the floor and then took $450 from the proprietor, and $22 from the cash register.

The robbers, two of whom leveled guns at the customers, Richard and Henry Nahman, of Broad Ave, sped off after pulling loose ignition wires in the Nahman car parked outside.

The expected cuts "eventually will save millions of dollars to the insurance public of Pennsylvania," Neel said in a statement.

PROMISES LOWER
INSURANCE RATES

Harrisburg, May 18 (AP)—Greg L. Neel, state insurance commissioner, announced today a study of fire insurance rates in Pennsylvania "has reached the point where assurances can be given that rate reductions are under consideration, particularly for residential property and the small home owner."

The expected cuts "eventually will save millions of dollars to the insurance public of Pennsylvania," Neel said in a statement.

Winsted, Conn. (AP)—After witnessing the German invasion of France and spending 14 months in occupied territory, Mrs. Jules Bunel came to relatively peaceful Winsted—and broke her wrist working in her victory garden.

"NO MORE TROUBLE WITH CONSTIPATION!"

Says Long-Time Sufferer
Who Tried Laxative Cereal!

If you, too, are disappointed with pills and purgatives, be sure to read this unsolicited letter:

"For several years I was troubled with common constipation. I tried various remedies, but got only temporary relief. Several months ago, I started eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN each morning. I have never had the slightest trouble with constipation. My gratitude to KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN." Mr. H. M. Riley, 11 E. Division Street, Chicago, Ill.

Scientists say KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can really "get at" a common cause of constipation—lack of sufficient "cellulosic" elements in the diet—because it is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements! They work by helping the friendly colonic flora flush up and prepare the colonic wastes for easy, natural elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. Doesn't "sweep you out"! It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food.

If you have constipation of this type, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN or several ALL-BRAN muffins regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you, too, don't cheer its welcome relief! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Battlefield In Spring Dress And Summer Color For Nation's Governors

IMPROVEMENTS
MADE; CLEANUP IS COMPLETED

With the expected completion by the end of this month of a program of work started a year ago, the Gettysburg National Military Park and the National Cemetery here will be in tip-top shape when America's governors gather May 30 or the annual Memorial Day celebration here.

A trip over the field today by a reporter for The Gettysburg Times disclosed that innumerable changes have taken place during the last year. Working under the direction of Dr. J. Walter Coleman, superintendent of the park, the park service staff has cut most of the grass in the park and is engaged in cutting the remainder, nearly every building has been repaired and many whitewashed. Cannon have been repainted, ruts along roads have been filled, signs repainted, angled brush at Little Round Top leaned out and the field, as a whole, is presenting a better appearance than it has for some time.

To Use Old Rostrum

Cemetery Hill is now an expanse of well cut lawn and the Cyclorama stands in a well mowed field. At the cemetery the lawn is in perfect shape and a platform has been constructed for the use of motion picture cameramen about 40 feet from the brick rostrum and on a level with the rostrum. The cameraman's platform is made of wood and is 10 feet wide by 25 feet long. To the right of the rostrum will be placed seats for distinguished visitors and seats for the band will be placed at the left.

The long, white wooden rostrum that extended from the brick rostrum since 1933 has been torn away during the last year because of its rotted condition and this year the services will be held directly from the brick rostrum which was the site of Memorial Day services for years prior to 1933.

Buildings Repaired

The bad bulge in the side of the Bryan house has been repaired with part of the siding torn out and replaced and the entire building and the barn adjoining it have been whitewashed. The lower part of the house, which was all that had been constructed at the time of the battle, shows more plainly than ever the holes where bullets crashed into the structure during the battle, with the dark holes standing out in contrast to the whitewashed walls. The house at the time of the battle was built in the same general plan as the building used by General Meade as his headquarters and the second story was added shortly after the battle.

Cannon Repainted

Meade's headquarters has been whitewashed and painted on the interior and presents a better appearance than it has for years. The inside walls are whitewashed while the wooden doors and trim inside the house have been painted a bluish gray color. Plans are under way to have the garden at the headquarters planted as it was at the time Meade stayed there while directing the Union forces during the Battle of Gettysburg. The fences and barn at the headquarters have also been whitewashed.

All but a few of the cannon on the field have been repainted with the iron parts painted black and the carriages painted olive drab with black trimmings. The colors are those prescribed for army cannon in Army manuals of 1863, and the paint used was mixed according to the directions given in those manuals for the Civil War Army.

Bronze Barrels Unpainted

Cannon barrels that appear to have been painted blue are of bronze, and have never been painted, with the color being the natural one developed by bronze after it has weathered. The army manual for 1863 prohibits painting of bronze barrels.

A number of repairs are under way on the platform of the Pennsylvania monument. All fences that were in bad shape have been repaired. A number of repairs have been made at the Trostle farm and whitewash has been applied to the buildings.

Visitors to Gettysburg this year will see the Peach orchard in better condition than ever before, with the trees planted there in 1941 by the local National Park office and the State Agricultural Experimental laboratory at Arendtsville having reached the height or from three to six feet.

Back To '63

Barberry plants have been placed about the sides and to the front of the North Carolina monument, serving a dual purpose of preventing tourists from injuring the figures of the statutory group and making the entire scene more eye-appealing.

CONGRESSMEN
HUMAN AVERS
MANUFACTURERS

By JAMES BARLOW and
GEORGE ZIELKE

Washington, May 18 (AP)—A little primer on how to get along with congressmen, prepared for the benefit of businessmen, says very firmly that congressman "is a human being."

Called "Know Your Congressman," it is printed by the National Association of Manufacturers. The nine-page document sternly warns:

"Cut out demagoguery before a (congressional) committee. That is Congress' own specialty and en-umber of repairs, grass cutting and the like at the Peace Light."

Little Round Top, for the first time in several decades, presents once again the exact view that Confederate soldiers had of it when they attempted to storm the heights commanded by General Warren.

Following pictures taken in 1863 just after the battle, the park service force has cut off new growth trees and cleaned out brush leaving only those trees shown on the pictures taken at the time. The west side of Little Round Top had been logged over just a year before the battle.

VANGUARD OF
IDLE WORKERS
RESUME WORK

Detroit, May 18 (AP)—Michigan's major labor dispute appeared settled at least temporarily today as the first of 52,000 war production workers made idle by a strike of 3,300 foremen began receiving calls to return to their jobs.

How soon the long assembly lines at 12 affected plants would be moving at full speed remained in doubt, but preparations were being made for an early resumption of production of aircraft parts and other war materials which top Army and Navy officials have termed vital to maintenance of schedules on the fighting fronts.

The decision to end the three-week strike was reached last night at six separate chapter meetings of the Foremen's Association of America, with which the striking foremen are affiliated. The action was taken on instructions from Robert H. Keys, national president of the independent union.

Helps Enemies

Keys, summoned to the hearing by the War Labor Board, was warned by its chairman, William

H. Davis, that "if you take on the United States government in time of war, you are licked." Urging the foremen to end the strike and then come before the board with their grievance over union recognition, Davis told Keys that continuance would "handicap yourself by putting the United States government on the other fellow's side."

Calling the strike "one of the most serious setbacks the air force had since its inception," General H. H. Arnold said he was not interested in the merits of the dispute, but pointed out that the war production involved was so essential its stoppage might even affect invasion operations.

ELECTRICITY TO INDUCE SLEEP IS ADVOCATED

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Philadelphia, May 18 (AP)—Electrically induced sleep, a new method or treating mental troubles, was reported to the American Psychiatric Association today by a group of California scientists.

The sleep is an apparent improvement on the new electrical shock treatment, which seems quite literally to rebuke a thinking apparatus in gray matter.

Electronarcosis, the Californians call the sleep, is induced by electrodes and mild current applied to the head. It starts with a mild spasm followed by deep unconsciousness.

The electric sleep was maintained for seven minutes each time in more than 1,000 treatments, and without any bad effects. It worked better, the report said, both in curing and in improving schizophrenia (split personality) than electric shock alone. It was no better, said the report, than insulin shock, but worked equally well.

Long Experiments

The Californians said they brought out this electric narcosis only after many years of experimenting on animals to be sure it would be safe. The report was by Esther Eogen Tietz, George N. Thompson, A. Van Harreveld and C. A. G. Wiersma, of California Institute of Technology, University of Southern California, the Los Angeles County hospital and aid from the Hixon and the Scottish Rite Mason funds.

Many reports were made today on growing evidence of effectiveness of the electric shock treatment, which is a brief unconsciousness, often accompanied by convulsions.

Psychiatrists are not certain whether there may be brain damage. But they find that so far the benefits overcome possible brain injury.

A universal language based on the seven notes of the musical scale instead of on grammar or vocabulary is called the Spataro-Radio-Code.

KILLED MISSING INDIAN GIRL IS FOUND

Yonkers, N. Y., May 18 (AP)—The Hudson rivers turgid waters today had yielded the body of Valsa Mathai, wealthy 22-year-old Indian student missing from Columbia university nearly two months, but circumstances of her death remained cloaked in mystery.

Acting Westchester County Medical Examiner Edwin M. Huntington said the dark-eyed Bombay, India, girl, who disappeared from a Riverside drive dormitory during a pre-dawn snowstorm March 20 had drowned.

He did not attempt to explain, however, how she got in the water. The medical examiner said no bruises or marks of violence were found on her body and remarked that it would be impossible to detect any traces of poison in a body which had been in the river so long.

Miss Mathai's body was found last night by a boatman, floating in midstream here about seven miles up the river from Columbia university.

Object of one of the most intensive nation-wide searches in New York police history since she disappeared from her room at International house, Miss Mathai was the daughter of John Mathai, head of the Tata Chemical company, of Bombay, and an Indian economist, author and government official.

Police advanced several possible reasons for her strange disappearance—that she committed suicide, had gone out to see the snow and met foul play, or had been the victim of a hit-run driver who had hidden the body.

ELECTRICITY TO INDUCE SLEEP IS ADVOCATED

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Philadelphia, May 18 (AP)—Electrically induced sleep, a new method of treating mental troubles, was reported to the American Psychiatric Association today by a group of California scientists.

The sleep is an apparent improvement on the new electrical shock treatment, which seems quite literally to rebuke a thinking apparatus in gray matter.

Electronarcosis the Californians call the sleep. It is induced by electrodes and mild current applied to the head. It starts with a mild spasm followed by deep unconsciousness.

The electric sleep was maintained for seven minutes each time in more than 1,000 treatments, and without any bad effects. It worked better, the report said, both in curing and in improving schizophrenia (split personality) than electric shock alone. It was no better, said the report, than insulin shock, but worked equally well.

Long Experiments

The Californians said they brought out this electric narcosis only after many years of experimenting on animals to be sure it would be safe. The report was by Esther Bogen Tietz, George N. Thompson, A. Van Harreveld and C. A. G. Wiersma, of California Institute of Technology, University of Southern California, the Los Angeles County hospital and aid from the Hixon and the Scottish Rite Mason funds.

Many reports were made today on growing evidence of effectiveness of the electric shock treatment, which is a brief unconsciousness, often accompanied by convulsions.

Psychiatrists are not certain whether there may be brain damage. But they find that so far the benefits overcome possible brain injury.

A universal language based on the seven notes of the musical scale instead of on grammar or vocabulary is called the Spatar-Radio-Code.

MISSING INDIAN GIRL IS FOUND

Yonkers, N. Y., May 18 (AP)—The Hudson river's turgid waters today had yielded the body of Valsa Matthai, wealthy 22-year-old Indian student missing from Columbia university nearly two months, but circumstances of her death remained cloaked in mystery.

Acting Westchester County Medical Examiner Edwin M. Huntington said the dark-eyed Bombay, India, girl, who disappeared from a Riverdale drive dormitory during a pre-dawn snowstorm March 26 had drowned.

He did not attempt to explain, however, how she got in the water.

The medical examiner said no bruises or marks of violence were found on her body and remarked that it would be impossible to detect any traces of poison in a body which had been in the river so long.

Miss Matthai's body was found last night by a boatman, floating in midstream here about seven miles up the river from Columbia university.

Object of one of the most intensive nation-wide searches in New York police history since she disappeared from her room at International house, Miss Matthai was the daughter of John Matthai, head of the Tata Chemical company, of Bombay, and an Indian economist, author and government official.

Police advanced several possible reasons for her strange disappearance—that she committed suicide, had gone out to see the snow and met foul play, or had been the victim of a hit-run driver who had hidden the body.

Gold and scarlet are the official colors of the U. S. Marine Corps.

POLE-RUSSO AGREEMENT IS MUCH BRIGHTER

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, May 18 (AP)—Russia and Poland appeared today to have made a small but hopeful start on patching up their differences.

As a result responsible diplomatic quarters here are more optimistic about closing this breach in the United Nations than at any time in the past three months.

The immediate cause of this optimism was a resolution of the Polish national council in London yesterday asking that the position of successor to the president be separated from that of commander in chief of the armed forces.

New Commander

Should President Wladyslaw Raczkiewicz heed this advice he would have simply to appoint someone other than General Kazimierz Sosnkowski, the commander in chief, as his successor.

The Russians have objected vigorously to Sosnkowski because of his alleged anti-Soviet record.

Other governmental changes are expected to be recommended by the council, which is a sort of consultative assembly to advise the government. These changes, while internal in character, may result in creating a regime of men generally more acceptable to Moscow.

On the Russian side, diplomats here attach some importance to the Moscow visit of Father Orlenski, the American Catholic priest of Polish ancestry, and Prof. Oskar Lange, University of Chicago economist.

One interpretation placed on the activities of these two is that Orlenski was chosen by the Russians to convey to the world word of a desire to get on peacefully with the Catholic church, especially in Poland.

Lange, according to this view, possibly was selected to express Moscow's ideas about a friendly compromise with Poland on the political level. For this reason Lange's return from Russia is awaited here with considerable interest.

It would not be surprising to those quarters if Lange discloses a Russian willingness to settle the border dispute with Poland.

Polish Soldiers Getting Revenge Against Invaders

With the Eighth Army North of Cassino, May 18 (AP)—The Poles are doing it the hard way—avenging the defeat of 1939 and fighting their way back home by way of the treacherous blood-stained hills north of Cassino.

They are making progress against the terrifying terrain and perhaps the toughest troops Hitler could put before them.

On a hot, rocky plateau Gen. Wladyslaw Anders' men are facing up to the deadly German pillboxes studding these ancient hills. They fight over some of the most difficult ground in Italy—ground on which the British before them fought and died.

"We have had many losses," said one Polish officer, "but you only begin to think about losses when the battle is over and you begin to count your marbles."

The officer had gone to school in Pennsylvania. His family still is in Krakow.

Wounds in these cruel hills are much more likely to prove fatal because hospitals are hard to reach.

Usually it takes five or six men to carry a wounded soldier out.

HELD FOR DRAFT EVAZION

PHOTOS SHOW GERMAN WEST WALL STRONG

London, May 18 (AP) — Photographic bit by bit during the steady Allied aerial hammering of the invasion coast, the German west wall has been found to be a series of strong points embedded in concrete in a maze of minefields and barbed wire.

The reconnaissance photographs, showing the enemy fortifications gun-by-gun and mile-by-mile, now have been assembled into a giant map against the forthcoming day of invasion, an attack that the controlled Vichy radio asserted last night may be expected "any moment now."

Strong Defense

The map, which provides Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and his command details of the potential battlefields, shows defense installations in camouflaged concrete clusters in staggered lines back from the mined European coast.

The defense clusters all hide big guns. Some protrude long barrels of huge sunken batteries. From others rocket guns are set to fire toward the channel.

Relying heavily upon camouflage, the Germans have placed virtually all the defense system underground and have used canvas extensively in an attempt to keep completed installations away from the prying eyes of Allied airmen. But the photographic eyes of Allied air forces have kept track of the digging step by step.

Uncover Secrets

While bombers and other Allied aircraft drummed these installations as high priority targets in weeks of night and day attacks, other reconnaissance planes, each equipped with three to six cameras capable of shooting 180 pictures apiece, have been uncovering the secrets of the west wall.

The planes of the photographic units carry no guns — much to the regret of virtually all the pilots, for they often must swoop close to the enemy. As one said:

"I'd like to do some shooting. We all would. But we realize the importance of getting pictures."

Yankee Doodle Dandy
For Thomas E. Dewey

New York, May 18 (AP) — The New York County Republican Committee's new campaign song, set to the tune of "Yankee Doodle Dandy," will have its world premiere at the committee meeting tonight.

The lyrics, made public by Secretary of State Thomas J. Curran, are:

"Oh, Tom E. Dewey came to town! A-riding on a pony! He busted gangs and jailed the mobs! And cleared out every phony!" (Chorus)

"Oh, Tom E. Dewey keep it up. You're swinging sharp and handy! The White House is your home next year!"

"Our Yankee Dewey dandy!"

Chapter 18

How Cora wondered, had Count Varanis managed to explain his running away during the raid at The Beanstalk to Zelda. She sat on the bed and tried to imagine how he could possibly have justified it.

The young folks were at the table when Cora got downstairs for dinner.

"So, sleepy head," Pete greeted her.

"I didn't sleep," Cora denied crossly. "I only rested for a minute or two."

"Well, you look sleepy anyway," Zelda told her.

"Sleepy—but charming as always," said the count.

Cora looked down her nose. That "charming" line was commencing to pall. She said nothing and concentrated on the jellied consomme.

"Well, go on with your story, Zelda," Pete said. "She was telling us about that man who threw his wife off the cliff," he explained to Cora.

"What man? What cliff?" Cora was all interest at once. "Who told you about it?"

"O'Brien," Zelda continued. "Well, anyway that they went up there on a picnic. It was their wedding anniversary or something. They had taken lunch along, and when they had finished eating they went to the edge of the cliff to look at the view. Before the woman realized what was happening he had thrown her over."

"Heavens!" said Cora. "What did he do then?"

"Nothing. He went home. Some boys who were out hiking found the body."

"Well, of all things! Whatever made him do it, do you think?"

"Oh, temporary insanity, undoubtedly," said the count.

"What a scene for an opera," Pete breathed.

"Huh!" said Cora.

"Well, it certainly ought to give you pause," Pete teased her. "Take that boy friend of yours now. I believe he's slightly touched. You better be careful he doesn't lure you up there some day and push you off."

"Likely," snorted Cora.

The count dropped his fork.

"Sorry," he murmured as Sam gave him another. "So you have a boy friend, Miss Pettit?" He cocked a quizzical eye at Cora.

"Don't be silly," she said.

"Tell the truth and shame the devil," Zelda laughed, and she promptly began telling the count about the kidnapping.

Cora allowed her to finish, then, "Speaking of boy friends," she said, "I have a message for you from yours. I met O'Brien this afternoon and he asked me to tell you that he wouldn't be here today, but that he would see you later."

"Oh, I had forgotten all about it!" Zelda exclaimed.

"You could go farther and do worse." Cora was now on O'Brien's side.

"Who is this Mr. O'Brien?" inquired the count politely.

"One of the local cops who's been making a play for Zelda," Pete told him.

"How quaint," said Count Varanis. "Surely he wasn't serious?"

"Ask Zelda," Pete advised.

Zelda changed the subject.

"After dinner she and the count got in his car and headed towards Antonville."

"How," said Cora after they had come up the drive. Soon Zelda and the count entered. She had her arm linked through his.

"Glorious night!" Zelda caroled.

"Marvelous," echoed the count.

"Mosquitoes," said Cora coldly.

Pete laughed. "Let's have a drink," he suggested, and he rang for Sam.

The count finished his quickly and put down his glass. "If you'll excuse me, I'll retire. I want to be up bright and early and roam around these beautiful hills."

"Well for Heaven's sake, where did he come from?" Cora asked Zelda, as soon as the count had left the room.

London, May 18 (AP) — Photographed by bit by during the steady Allied aerial hammering of the invasion coast, the German west wall has been found to be a series of strong points embedded in concrete in a maze of minefields and barbed wire.

The reconnaissance photographs, showing the enemy fortifications gun-by-gun and mile-by-mile, now have been assembled into a giant map against the forthcoming day of invasion, an attack that the controlled Vichy radio asserted last night may be expected "any moment now."

Strong Defense

The map, which provides Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and his command details of the potential battlefields, shows defense installations in camouflaged concrete clusters in staggered lines back from the mined European coast.

The defense clusters all hide big guns. From some protrude long barrels of huge sunken batteries. From others rocket guns are set to fire toward the channel.

Relying heavily upon camouflage, the Germans have placed virtually all the defense system underground and have used canvas extensively in an attempt to keep completed installations away from the prying eyes of Allied airmen. But the photographic eyes of Allied air forces have kept track of the digging step by step.

Uncover Secrets

While bombers and other Allied aircraft drummed these installations as high priority targets in weeks of night and day attacks, other reconnaissance planes, each equipped with three to six cameras capable of shooting 180 pictures apiece, have been uncovering the secrets of the west wall.

The planes of the photographic units carry no guns — much to the regret of virtually all the pilots, for they often must swoop close to the enemy. As one said:

"I'd like to do some shooting. We all would. But we realize the importance of getting pictures."

Yankee Doodle Dandy For Thomas E. Dewey

New York, May 18 (AP) — The New York County Republican Committee's new campaign song, set to the tune of "Yankee Doodle Dandy," will have its world premiere at the committee meeting tonight.

The lyrics, made public by Secretary of State Thomas J. Curran, are:

"Oh, Tom E. Dewey came to town! A-riding on a pony! He busted gangs and jailed the mobs! And cleared out every phony!"

(Chorus)

"Oh, Tom E. Dewey keep it up, You're swinging sharp and handy! The White House is your home next year!"

"Our Yankee Dewey dandy!"

Chapter 18

How, Cora wondered, had Count Varanini managed to explain his running away during the raid at the Beanstalk to Zelida. She sat on the bed and tried to imagine how he could possibly have justified it.

The young folks were at the table when Cora got downstairs for dinner.

"So, sleepy head," Pete greeted her.

"I didn't sleep," Cora denied crossly. "I only rested for a minute or two."

"Well, you look sleepy anyway," Zelida told her.

"Sleepy—but charming as always," said the count.

Cora looked down her nose. That "charming" line was commencing to pall. She said nothing and concentrated on the jellied consommé.

"Well, go on with your story, Zelida," Pete said. "She was telling us about that man who threw his wife off the cliff," he explained to Cora.

"What man? What cliff?" Cora was all interest at once. "Who told you about it?"

"O'Brien," Zelida continued. "Well, anyway they went up there on a picnic. It was their wedding anniversary or something. They had taken lunch along, and when they had finished eating they went to the edge of the cliff to look at the view. Before the woman realized it, he was glad enough to take all the credit too, because there was a reward for the capture of those two men."

Pete just looked at her and shook his head.

After a minute he said, "Well, there's one other possibility. Now don't get excited, but for five days before I came up here I had a feeling I was being followed. Maybe he set someone to watching me, hoping that he'd get track of Zelida through me."

"Well, of all things! Whatever made him do it, do you think?"

"Oh, temporary insanity, undoubtedly," said the count.

"What a scene for an opera," Pete breathed.

"Huh!" said Cora.

"Well, it certainly ought to give you pause," Pete teased her. "Take that boy friend of yours now. I believe he's slightly touched. You better be careful he doesn't lure you up there some day and push you off."

"Likely," snorted Cora.

The count dropped his fork.

"Sorry," he murmured as Sam gave him another. "So you have a boy friend, Miss Pettit?" He cocked a quizzical eye at Cora.

"Don't be silly," she said.

"Tell the truth and shame the devil," Zelida laughed, and she promptly began telling the count about the kidnapping.

Cora allowed her to finish, then, "Speaking of boy friends," she said. "I have a message for you from yours. I met O'Brien this afternoon and he asked me to tell you that he wouldn't be here today, but that he would see you later."

"Oh, I had forgotten all about him!" Zelida exclaimed.

"You could go farther and do worse," Cora was now on O'Brien's side.

"Who is this Mr. O'Brien?" inquired the count politely.

"One of the local cops who's been making a play for Zelida," Pete told him.

"How quaint," said Count Varanini. "Surely he wasn't serious?"

"Ask Zelida," Pete advised.

Zelida changed the subject.

After dinner she and the count got in his car and headed towards Antonville.

"How," said Cora after they had gone, "do you suppose he ever found us up here?"

"Could be," said Pete, "that he reads the papers. You can't go around the countryside capturing bank robbers without getting your name in print."

"I can," Cora smirked. "I thought of that at the time. I told O'Brien that we were up here to rest and didn't want our friends to know where we were, and he promised to try to keep our names out of it. He was glad enough to take all the credit too, because there was a reward for the capture of those two men."

Pete just looked at her and shook his head.

"We remember what four years of Herbert Hoover cost the people of this nation. We remember what 12 years of the Republican party cost the people of a war-weary community of nations and what the irrevocable errors of that party in 1919 and 1920 are costing the world today."

He asserted the "identities of the two probable candidates" for the presidency "are by this time foreseen clearly enough by recent political events," charging that Dewey had been conducting a "very uncandid candidacy" for the Republican nomination.

FINED DROWNED BODY

Pittsburgh, May 18 (AP) — The coroner reported the body of James Vecchi, 38, missing since Saturday night, was taken from Chartiers Creek at nearby Bridgeville yesterday. He said no marks of violence were found on the body.

come up the drive. Soon Zelda and the count entered. She had her arm linked through his.

"Glorious night!" Zelda caroled.

"Marvelous," echoed the count.

"Marvelous," said Cora coldly.

Pete laughed. "Let's have a drink," he suggested, and he rang for Sam.

The count finished his quickly and put down his glass. "If you'll excuse me, I'll retire. I want to be up bright and early and roam around these beautiful hills."

"Well for Heaven's sake, where did he come from?" Cora asked Zelda, as soon as the count had left the room.

Scores Dewey As "Hooverized" Man

Pittsburgh, May 18 (AP) — If Thomas E. Dewey should be elected president, a "Hooverized" national administration is in store for the American people, Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan told the New York governor, whom he described as the "great Republican unmentionable."

"He'll be set to making things better — whether it's an airplane or a railroad or a glass of fine American beer like this."

"And from where I sit, Ed has put his finger on what makes America great — and will keep her great. The urge to do things just a little better — from the planes we make to the glass of beer that we enjoy. Things to be proud of — all of them!"

We were sitting on Ed Carey's porch, enjoying a friendly glass of beer, when a squadron of fighter planes goes over — in tight formation — swift and trim and powerful.

"There," says Ed, "goes an American tradition."
